SILLY ZIONIST PROPAGANDA.

In this number we publish extracts from Mr. G. N. Barnes' important article on the situation in Palestine.

In it, he makes reference to unwise Zionist Propaganda.

A typical instance of this kind of unwise and stupid propaganda is found in our contemporary the "Palestine Weekly" this week.

We are rather surprised to find this usually level headed and bright periodical deliberately giving currency to glaring mis-statements—“terminologically inexact” as Mr. Churchill would say.

We refer to the open letter to Palestinian Arabs by one, Ahmed Ibrahim Abu Gosh described as the chief of Sheikhs of the villages surrounding Jerusalem. It was published originally in "Barid Alyon" described as an Arabic newspaper.

The comments of the "Palestine Weekly" are, "The following letter may assuredly be taken as representative of the view of the majority of the fellahin sons of the soil, not vitiated by the virus of an imported agitation."

To an average reader this letter carries weight, it seems to represent the general feelings of of the Arab population and it is accepted as the view point of the majority.

The letter however is nothing of the sort. It is the personal opinion and statement of an Arab who is not even the "Chief of the Sheikhs of the surrounding villages." Barid Alyon is not an Arabic newspaper. It is a Zionist propaganda paper—run by Jews and printed in Arabic. A distinction with a great difference.

The "Jerusalem Gazette" has the written statement of four powerful Sheikhs emphatically denying that they support Zionism and that they personally vouch for many more Mukhtars — this statement was voluntarily submitted to us and the Sheikhs expressed their great indignation at the letter of Abu Gosh.

Now if the open letter was confined to Palestine alone we would be inclined to ignore it.

The Arab population take it for what it is worth. The Zionist Press Bureau however circulate this kind of news all over the world thus coloring.

The Rt. Hon. G. N. Barnes on Palestine.

"MUZZLE A FEW ZIONISTS."

We print the following extracts from an article contributed to the Times by the former Labour member of the Cabinet the Rt. Hon. G. N. Barnes M. P., who visited Jerusalem during the Easter disturbances.

"The Balfour Declaration was worded after much careful consideration.

It does not mean a Jewish State, unless at some distant future the Jews should outnumber the other elements in the population. Nor does it mean Jewish ascendancy, unless such were to come by superior moral and mental qualities on the part of the Jews.

As to the spirit in which the declaration was received by representative Jews, let me quote two instances. At a public meeting, held in London two years ago, to give a word of cheer to a Zionist mission of doctors "en route" for Jerusalem, Sir Alfred Mond said that the Jews were to "return to Palestine, not as monopolists, not as victors, but as operators." Lord Rothschild said that "among the purposes in view was the establishment of hospitals on the most approved lines."

The only way open to the Arab is to equip himself to do his part.

Politically, I believe that he has been misled and that the Zionists, are, in part, responsible. The British Government's declaration has been conveyed to his mind as portending a Jewish state in which he will be subordinate to the Jew. This idea may be fostered for ulterior purposes by persons of his own household. I know that such is alleged by some Zionist leaders. But it is also a fair inference to draw from some of the Zionist activities in Jerusalem and from inflated speeches made by Zionist orators throughout the world. There is a Zionist organization in Jerusalem almost, if not quite as complete as that of the British Administrator. It has its staff and its own agents from foreign countries, and it is not as careful as it might be of Arab susceptibilities or of the impartiality of its report of events in Palestine.

Most harmful is, in my view, the Zionist propaganda. Some Zionist speeches are pitched in quite a different key from those of Sir Alfred Mond and Lord Rothschild. They breathe the spirit of conquest rather than of fellowship. Let me give an illustration from a speech made by a Dr. Wise in the Synod Hall of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York, as reported in the Press on May 4. The speaker said that he had had an interview in 1917 with the President of the United States. After three years' silence he reports President Wilson as saying that "when the war is ended there are two lands that will never go back to the Mohammedan Apache. One is Christian America, and the other is Jewish Palestine."

A MISCHIEVOUS RECOLLECTION.

Now this is not, as might be imagined, the utterance of a perfervid politician eager to show acquaintance with the White House; it is from a rabbi of standing and repute, and is dug up from his memory after three years of stirring events. It seems to me that, even if his memory could be relied upon, Dr. Wise shows anything but wisdom in unburdening his mind of what he remembered of 1917. He might have reflected that much had happened since 1917 which had robbed President Wilson's words of are expressing their disapproval of Anti Zionist agitation and their desire for Jewish immigration."

This statement is manifestly absurd and we take this opportunity of utterly refuting this insidious charge against the Arabic People.

much of their weight. He might also have reflected that the words I have quoted are well calculated to accentuate present difficulties in Palestine. He might have known that the reference to a Jewish Palestine would be translated into the idea of a Jewish State, and that, although President Wilson may have used the phrase about "Mohammedan Apache" as intended to apply to the Turks, it will be taken as applying to Mohammedan Palestinian as well.

The speech, probably with embellishments, has doubtless found its way ere now to Jerusalem and further embittered relations of peoples whom it is the daily object of the Administration on the spot to bring together.

And after all, the "Mohammedan Apache" is in a sense, in possession. There are over half a million of him. He cannot be forced into cooperation any more than man and woman could be forced into happy matrimony.

If I might venture, as a friend to offer a word of advice to the Zionists, it would be to put a muzzle on some of their most volatile members.

HOPE FOR PALESTINE.

"The idea that has got abroad that Palestine is condemned is quite erroneous. As a matter of fact, I believe there are good grounds to hope that that issue will be adjusted satisfactorily and amicably," says the Emir Feisal to an Egyptian Gazette representative. The Emir went on to explain that he did not believe that Great Britain had taken the final decision in the matter.

PUSSYFOOT IN PALESTINE.

An astonishing development of the anti Saloon League's successes may lead to prohibition being introduced into Palestine for American citizens, for the league "has actually backed a bill to make the Prohibition law applicable to American citizens in any foreign countries in which such provision can be made operative."

If this becomes law all bars and hotels where alcoholic beverages can be obtained in Palestine will be out of bounds for American citizens and the American Consuls will have to take proceedings for all contraventions of this law.

the minds of the people at home on the Palestine Situation.

A striking instance is shown in the current number of "Palestine" the Official Organ of the British Palestine Committee, where it is stated that "Hundreds of villages

THE INJUSTICE OF ZIONISM

BY. EDWARD BLISS REED.

We Continue the Following Powerful
Article which Appears in the Yale Review
The Foremost University Journal of America.

At the Paris Peace Conference a Zionist submitted certain demands which include a recognition of the "historic title of the Jews to Palestine" and "the right of the Jews to reconstitute Palestine their national home." However great the appeal of sentiment and the achievement of the past, it is apparent that the Jews possess no title to that country and that the historical argument which we have summarized is valueless. The twelve tribes invaded Palestine, won it by hard fighting, and finally lost it to the Romans. The Arabs have possessed it for a longer period than the Jewish nation ever held it. In the reigns of James the First, Charles the Second, many English men and women were forced by religious persecution and civil war to abandon their homes and to seek a refuge in this country. Should their descendants, now numbering scores of thousands, ask that their "historic title" to English lands and estates from which their ancestors had been driven three centuries ago be recognized today, it is quite clear what the answer would be. The Zionists go back in their claims not three hundred but three thousand years, to the Kingdom of Solomon. Obviously no race or nation can presume to remake, to its own advantage, the map of the world as it existed a thousand years before the birth of Christ.

The boundaries of the proposed Jewish commonwealth are comprehensive. Leaving aside the claims of those Zionists who talk of the greater Palestine, or, in other words, aim to control Syria also, the most moderate of the proposed boundaries extends as far as Akaba. This town, situated on the gulf of Akaba, a branch of the Red Sea, and lying further south than Cairo, is desired for purely commercial purposes, as a port for the trade of Persia and India. On the north, the line extends through Phoenicia, though French ports are in Tyre and Sidon and that whole district is apparently to pass under French control. On the east the Hedjaz railway, built by the Arabs to take pilgrims to Mecca, is now taken as the boundary line. This railroad runs north and south, some thirty-five miles on an average beyond the Jordan; but all the land east of that famous river has been taken over by the new Arab kingdom. Plainly if there were no burning question within the proposed state itself, its boundaries could not be decided by simply presenting at Paris certain demands formulated by Zionists. Evidently it is not a question of what a Jewish nation once governed, but what Zionism considers would be most advantageous both politically and commercially for it to hold at present. There is no validity in the historical argument.

What we have called the biological argument is equally unconvincing, and we must dismiss it in a few words, for we have not approached the heart of the whole matter. It is admitted that the new Jewish commonwealth can never hold more than a small proportion of the race. Millions must still live in Europe, where pogroms will not cease because some hundreds of thousands of Jews have emigrated to Judaea or Galilee. Zionists and Christians must unite in attacking injustice and cruelty in whatever so-called Christian countries they show themselves. A Jew must live and work in safety in every country; and toleration, equality, and justice are in no wise dependent upon the success or failure of a Jewish state.

Thus far we have left out of consideration the point on which the whole problem should turn. Since Palestine is an Arab country in which the Jews are outnumbered eight to one, naturally the question to be asked first of all is what the Palestinians desire.

To the American mind, the founding of a Jewish commonwealth in Palestine is comparable to opening up Indian lands and establishing the State of Oklahoma, but no such parallel can be drawn. Apart from the small proportion of Bedouins, the Arabs of Palestine are divided into two classes. The fellahs, the village or farming class, are ignorant, absolutely illiterate, and show all too plainly the result of four centuries of Turkish oppression, yet these very Arabs can make good agriculturists and to the number of five thousand have largely furnished the labor to the Jewish "colonies." Indeed, it may be said that without them, the success of these Jewish communities would have been extremely problematical. The second class of Palestinians, the business men, the employers of labor, contains many well-educated Arabs, both Moslem and Christians and Mohammedans receive a training equal to that given by our best institutions of learning. Both classes have lived under the tyranny of the Turk, who discouraged education forbade progress of any kind, and deliberately retarded the development of the country.

NISH-NISH.

"With goodwill on both sides" said Lord Rothschild recently "the Jews will make a success of colonizing their own country."

There will have to be assets as well as goodwill, it is thought, if they are to be made to feel thoroughly at home.

This is a great and glorious thing for us, not merely because with a Jew as High Commissioner we may hope that in any instances he will unfarfully sway the balance in our favor against whomsoever.

REAL BRITISH EVENING.

Friday night's concert at the Y. M. C. A. was thoroughly enjoyable. It is very seldom that Britishers get together to enjoy themselves in Jerusalem but on Friday last we had an all British show and a practically all British audience. The Programme was rather a novelty in Jerusalem though probably extremely out of date in England.

Mr. Hughes and Mrs. Hughes worked hard at the productions and some very charming tableaux were staged.

It is was delightful to hear the immortal old British airs again—old favorites like Simon the Cellarer—Auld Robin Gray—and The Gypsy Countess. The amusing and topical tableau—"The Future Generation" was very well received and the woe begone faces of the poor men reduced to Allenbury Dieting, sock darning and dish-washing was very laughable.

The final tableau The United Kingdom was enthusiastically received.

The second part of the programme opened with comedy, burlesques by Captain Wood. The genial skipper is an excellent corrective to the boredom of living in Jerusalem and his exquisitely funny and faultless impersonation of the late Fred Emney was literally a "howling success"

How it brought back old memories to hear again the comically aristocratic voice "IS MRS MAY HIN?"

The last sketch "The Restaurant" was extremely laughable Lt. Jack Catterson as the extraordinarily harrassed waiter was immense and admirably supported by the cheery jovial personality of Lt. "Sandy" Saunders. Lt. Bradbury and Miss Roberts as the cockney lovers were an excellent foil to the aristocratic and imperious swells "Lt. Faithful and Miss Gate sang the ever charming Gypsy Countess very tunelessly and the singing of Mr. Dence and Mr. R. Hughes was much appreciated. Padre Evans was his usual good humored self at the piano which instrument must have worried him immensely for in spite of his clever accompaniment the extreme "Tinniness" of the notes could not be disguised. A special word of praise is due to the band. The indefatigable bandmaster brightened up the lengthy intervals with tuneful numbers that set the audience swaying ominously.

Jerusalem would like to hear some more of those Jazz effects Mr. Bandmaster "They sure have pep."

NOTICE.

We have pleasure in informing the Public that Mr. Choucri Houris has now taken over the superintending of unloading and loading railroad trucks. The service places every confidence in him and he is well known for having preformed his duties excellently as station master in Jerusalem.
